Opening of The Victory Bond Drive

Goal for Pettis
County is $322,000;
National Goal is
Eleven Billions

The Victory Bond drive started today with a quota of $322,000 for Pettis county. The chairman, C. L. Hanley and Ben Robinson, are anxious that the people of the county co-operate and buy their bonds at once so that Pettis county will be among the first to go over the top.

E. C. Hamilton, chairman of the drive outside of Sedalia, has sent supplies to the township chairmen and soliciting will start at once.

A special bond offered is an E bond of $200 to be purchased for $150 which carries the picture of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Nation Dips In Pockets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The nation reached into its pockets today to begin raising $11,000,000,000 in the last war bond drive—the Victory Loan.

Six million volunteers will assist in the campaign which got its send-off last night from Secretary of Treasury Vinson in a nationwide broadcast.

"A successful victory loan will help us on the long road ahead," Vinson said. "It will help you in planning your own future. And it helps to keep the faith with those who fought for a better world."

Honoring the living and dead heroes of the armed forces, ceremonies across the country launched this final drive to "finish the job."

Among those participating in these programs were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, Lieut. Col. James P. S. Devereux, defender of Wake Island, and Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr.

Private citizens will be asked to purchase $4,000,000,000 in bonds, including $2,000,000,000 in small denomination E-bonds. The drive will close December 8.

To Have Victory Parade

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Opening the Victory Loan campaign in St. Louis and climaxing the city's observance of Navy Day, a mammoth "Victory Day" parade will be held through the downtown streets tonight, with Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., commander of the Third Fleet supplying the focal point of acclaim and attention.

It is expected to be the largest and most colorful night procession in the city's history. About 10,000 persons will be in the line of march, including seven military bands and army, navy, marine and coast guard detachments.

The parade will be followed by a mass meeting at Kiel Auditorium. Speakers will include Admiral Halsey, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri, former Gov. Lloyd C. Stark and Mayor Aloys P. Kauffmann.

St. Louis' quota in the Victory Loan campaign is $122,981,000.

Robert B. Stover Lt. Commander

Robert B. Stover, son of John W. Stover, 1109 West Broadway, has been promoted from lieutenant in the navy to lieutenant commander, and writes from Japan to his father stating that country was heavily damaged in its cities, towns and countryside during the closing months of the war.

Lieut. Commander Stover is a graduate of the Smith-Cotton high school and afterward attended a business college in East St. Louis, Illinois.

He has been in the navy since 1941 and was instructor in a navy school at Bay St. Louis, Miss., later following like work at San Francisco and at San Mateo, California.

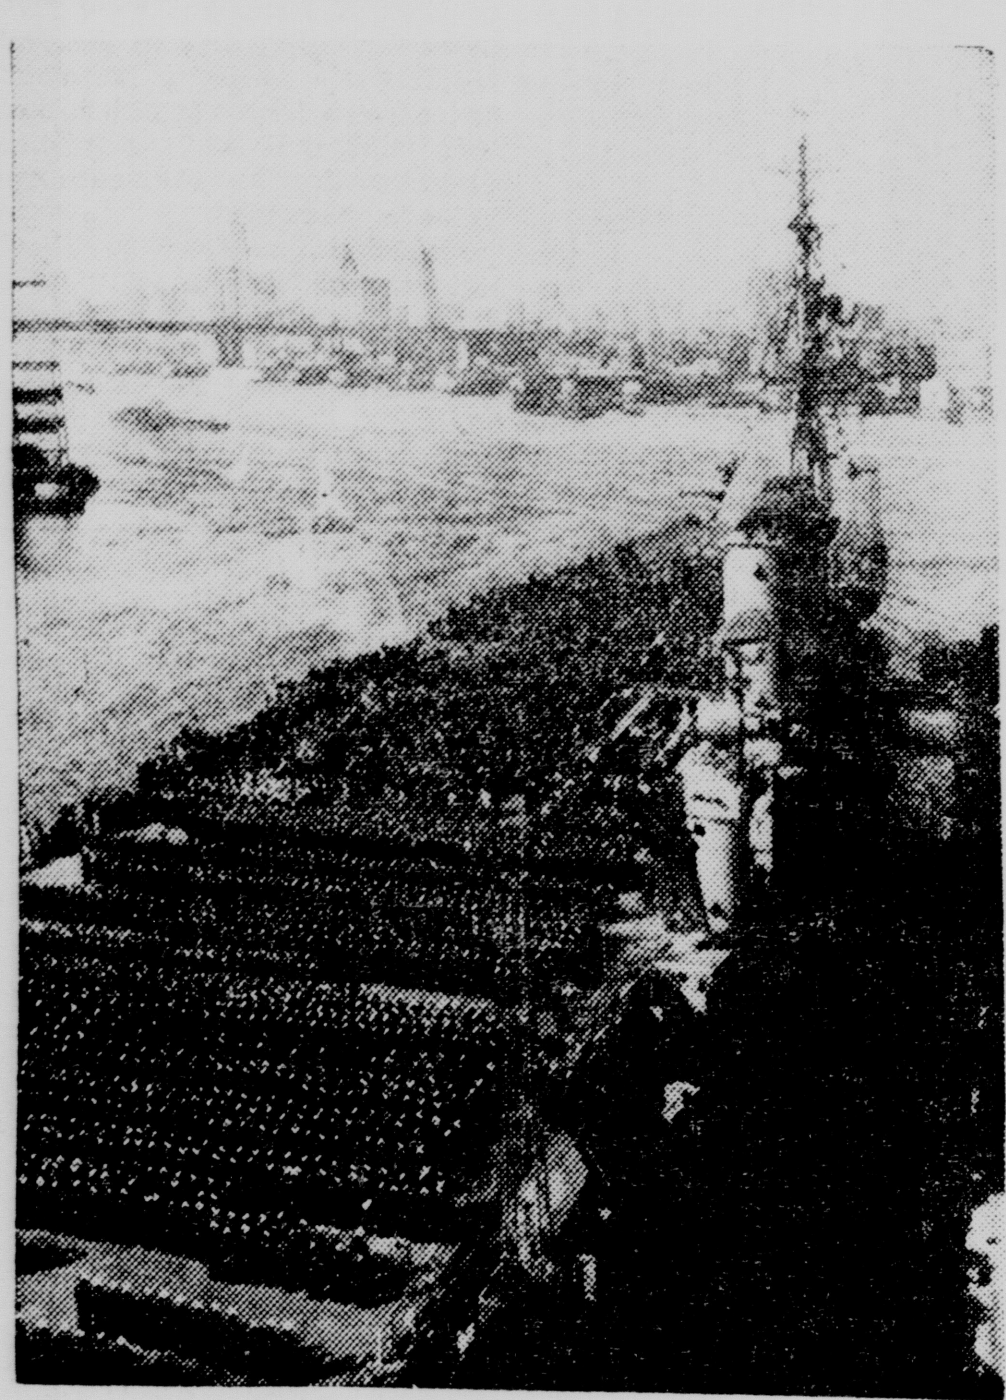

He has been for a considerable time on the USS Mayfield in sea duty.

R.M. Ryckman In Science Talk Before Rotary

Discusses Radar
And Other Late
Advancements

R. M. Ryckman, science teacher at Smith-Cotton high school, was the speaker at the Rotary meeting today noon at the Bothwell hotel.

The speaker gave a very informative talk in which he quoted scientific facts. He told of the development of science and how it has affected our lives and presented a film of work done by research workers.

He discussed radar briefly, told of some of the changes that have been made in airplane wings, airplane motors, which are being built one pound for each horse power in comparison to the Wright Brothers twelve pounds per horse power and of the gasoline now produced superior in proportion to machines made.

Mr. Ryckman told of the numerous uses of magnesium which is extracted from sea water. Plastic has also many uses and the nylon which is synthetic made, is better than silk. More synthetic rubber can be produced than prospective uses with the present plant setup.

Reduce Mortality Rate

In the last war, Mr. Ryckman said, as many men died of disease as in the war itself but this war 1.5 per cent was the mortality rate for the wounded reaching the treatment bases due to the use of modern medicines and improved surgery.

The atomic bomb, the giant of the hour in science, he said, is not now a secret, and he did not favor keeping the making of the bomb as a secret.

Research findings have been produced because the public wanted them, the speaker concluded. Morris Williamson was program chairman and Nolan Bricken, president, presided over the meeting.

Visiting Rotarians were William F. Knox and R. F. Wood.

Visitors at the meeting were Fred Creviston, Kansas City, guest of E. A. Edwards; T. R. "Dick" Snow, guest of A. A. Chambers; W. S. Cotton, Santa Monica, Calif., former member of the club, guest of "Bob" Johns; Charles Burns McEniry, guest of Dr. L. S. Geiger; Lt. Victor Eisenstein, Dayton, O., guest of Victor Eisenstein and A. B. Ridgeway, Corpus Christi, Tex., guest of Dr. A. L. Walter.

To Report Next Week as to MVA

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Back from a 5,000-mile tour of the upper Missouri river basin, Sen. Claude B. Ricketts (R) of St. Louis said today his commission would meet next week to begin formulation of its report on the advisability of a Missouri Valley Authority.

The commission finished its 2-weeks journey yesterday, traveling the last two days from Kansas City on a Missouri river steamboat furnished by army engineers. The rest of the trip through the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Kansas was made by rail.

Ricketts said the commission had not come to any formal decision on the MVA. Published predictions have indicated the final report to the governor and the legislature probably would be against establishment of any agency like the Tennessee Valley Authority to supervise flood control, reclamation and area development.

The group inspected Fort Peck dam on the upper Missouri, heard proponents and opponents of both the MVA and the Pick-Sloan plan for the river's development and talked with many state officials en route.

UAW Rejects 45 Hour Week

Declare Plan of
General Motors
Is Unacceptable

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—(AP)—President R. J. Thomas of the United Auto Workers, which today emphatically rejected a General Motors corporation proposal for a 45-hour week, announced he had been called by President Truman to a conference at the White House at 11 a. m. Friday.

Thomas said he did not know why the president had summoned him. Although the labor-management conference was not scheduled to begin until the following Monday, he said he assumed his summons to Washington was related to that meeting.

Shortly before General Motors offered its 45-hour work week proposal, C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, had conferred with Truman.

"I don't see how the 45-hour week could do either General Motors or the workers any good," Thomas asserted.

Another union leader termed General Motors' suggestion for joint action in petitioning congress for an extension of the 40-hour work week to 45 as a "conspiracy against millions of returning veterans and laidoff war workers."

General Motors declared Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, "is insuring economic suicide for itself and our whole peacetime economy."

Are at Stalemate

The corporation and union were stalemated over the workers' demand for a 30 per cent wage increase when negotiations were postponed indefinitely last week.

General Motors had rejected the union demand as "unreasonable."

The union, which has voted to strike to support its demand, stood firm. It would not digress "one red cent," Reuther asserted, unless GM could prove it impossible to raise wages without boosting the price of its products.

At that time, General Motors, which maintains there can be no wage boost without a corresponding hike in prices, said it would answer the union's contentions within 10 days.

The union, obviously regarded the 45-hour work week proposal as a counter-offer to its wage increase demand.

In a letter to the UAW-CIO, C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, called for the change in the wage and hour act during the postwar reconstruction period.

With the change, Wilson proposed a wage rate increase of approximately six per cent. He argued "that men working 45 hours at the new straight time rates will make as much money as they do now for 45 hours work."

Under the present wage and hour law time and one-half is paid for all time worked over 40 hours. Wilson contended that six per cent wage increase plus a 45-hour straight time week would equal 40 hours plus five hours at time and one-half.

Arrange A Truce at Soerabaja

Bloody Fighting
By Natives and British Waged
In Occupation

By Ralph Morton

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Indonesian nationalists using armored cars and light tanks killed an estimated 25 members of the British Indian force at Soerabaja before President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic" reportedly arranged a truce today at the big naval base.

A British officer made the casualty estimate but did not include pockets surrounded by the natives. The officer said that many women and children in internment camps in the area had been killed by the natives.

The fighting at Soerabaja was the bloodiest of the Allied occupation of the island of Java. Military equipment which the natives had taken from the Japanese included at least 20 armored vehicles and machine guns and mortars, the officer said, adding that the hard pressed British had used even their "cooks and cobblers" in the fighting.

Before the truce a couple of companies of Rajputana rifles fought desperately from the Darno hospital and the British consulate.

I flew with Soekarno and two of his cabinet into Soerabaja and returned to Batavia in the only plane to get in and out of the naval base. When we arrived we found the airstrip under fire and held by a thin patrol of British Mahattas.

As a result of the subsequent truce firing died down in the headquarters area of the British 49th brigade and in the center and southwestern portions of Soerabaja. A certain amount of firing still was going on in other areas of the city, but it was reported that the situation generally was quiet.

The first six hours of the battle were known to have taken the life of one Indian Sepoy. A British officer and several Indian soldiers were reported wounded.

Catalina Plane Hit

A Dutch Catalina plane was hit by light machine gun fire while flying 150 feet above the railway station. The plane returned to Batavia without landing at Soerabaja.

It still was not clear what had touched off the outbreak.

Leaflets had been dropped on the city warning unauthorized persons carrying arms to turn in their weapons by Wednesday on penalty of death. British army observers thought the leaflets might have been a partial cause of the clash.

Moestopa, a mysterious Indonesian whose name has been linked with the hostilities, was reported to have fled the naval base. A British senior staff officer said that when he informed Soekarno last night of what had happened, the Nationalist leader said that Moestopa held no official position in the native movement for independence from Dutch colonial control.

Hoists Flag High

I arrived at Soerabaja with Soekarno's party before the truce was arranged and had a succession of lucky escapes. Shots whizzed over our plane shortly after we alighted. Armed patrols took us to waiting trucks.

Soekarno's aide in a purple fez lifted high the Red and white flag of Indonesia, and we started through the native lines to a British battalion headquarters.

At the headquarters the commander, Lt. Col. A. Crookshank, showed a map of the battle area. There were not more than 1,600 British troops in Soerabaja, and many of the units were completely surrounded by Indonesians who probably numbered in the tens of thousands.

The sudden deterioration of the military situation at Soerabaja was wholly unexpected. British Indian troops landed without opposition four days ago at the naval base. Daily reports to headquarters in Batavia indicated the occupation was proceeding without any difficulty. Only a few hours before the outbreak British planes had dropped leaflets urging the Indonesians and Dutch authorities to settle their problems.

The Soerabaja trouble arose at a time when well-informed quarters had been predicting that informal peace talks between Dutch and Indonesian leaders would begin within 48 hours.

Will Retain Two Ocean Navy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A measure to fix the size of the postwar navy comes up in the house today to start what may be one of the chamber's busiest weeks in the waning legislative year.

It will be followed by a highly controversial half-billion dollar appropriation bill for the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

There is no known opposition to the navy measure, which expresses the "sense of congress" that the United States should retain a two-ocean navy of 1,082 major fighting ships.

The purpose of such a fleet would be "to insure our national integrity, support our national policies, guard the continental United States and our overseas possessions, give protection to our commerce and citizens abroad and to cooperate with other world powers in the maintenance of peace."

No new ships are authorized by the legislation. The postwar fleet it calls for already is afloat or under construction.

Testifies to Savage Orgy In Aid Station

Gen. Yamashita's
Soldiers Were in Brutal Killings

By John Grover

MANILA, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Four Japanese sailors in Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's Philippines command killed or wounded 100 women and children in a bloody orgy in a Red Cross aid station, a pretty survivor testified today as the general's trial on war criminal charges opened.

The heavily medaled, bullet headed Yamashita, defeated at every turn in legal skirmishing which opened the hearing, took a keen interest. He followed legal arguments carefully with the assistance of a personal interpreter, but appeared to understand considerable English.

Patricia Abad, 26, testified that four Japanese sailors savagely bayoneted and shot the 100 women and children here last February. The orgy continued more than an hour although there was no resistance.

The four Japanese slaughtered more than 50 of the women and children, Mrs. Abad told the military commission of five U. S. generals trying Yamashita for his life on a charge that he was responsible for crimes committed by his command.

Capt. Norman J. Sparnon, Melbourne, Australia, who preceded Mrs. Abad, identified translations of captured Japanese documents which definitely showed that Yamashita commanded the 14th Imperial army group at the time of the atrocities.

Guards escorted Yamashita to the defense table minutes before court opened in the heavily guarded high commissioner's residence, where officers, troops and Filipinos vied for the few seats available to the public.

Objection is Overruled

The defense objected to admission of 59 men points in the prosecution's bill of particulars on the ground that it opened an entirely new theory of law. The bill charged that Yamashita "permitted" his troops to commit atrocities. The objection was overruled.

It was clear that the defense carefully was laying the groundwork for an appeal either to President Truman or to the United States supreme court if Yamashita is convicted. It asked dismissal of all charges against Yamashita, who is the first Pacific war criminal suspect to face trial, on the contention that the commission is without jurisdiction and had no proper authority to hear the case.

The first afternoon witness was Gliceria Andaya, Filipino Red Cross nurse, who told of being stabbed through the breast at the aid station orgy.

John Lewey, 28-year-old German refugee, testified he had gone to the station shortly before the Japanese appeared and hid in the women's bathroom with 10 other persons. He was stabbed four times and left for dead, but lived to become the only survivor of the group, he said.

"The whole murder didn't last more than ten minutes," he estimated. He fixed the time of the occurrence as last February 10 and said there were 80 dead in the building after the Japanese left.

Early Tests To Be Faced on 12-Point U. S. Foreign Policy

Slaying After An Argument

STRASBURG, Mo., Oct. 29.—(AP)—An argument in a restaurant and the resultant eviction from the establishment yesterday resulted in the fatal shooting of David E. Hall, 30, of Kansas City, highway patrol officers reported.

Sgt. John W. Seaton, an over-seas veteran, was charged with the shooting, after state highway patrolmen say, he had held a constable at bay with a shotgun as Hall lay mortally wounded nearby.

Trooper M. B. Roberts gave this version of the shooting: Hall and a party of friends had become involved in an argument in the restaurant. The restaurant owner requested the party to leave. Seaton left soon after. The argument was resumed in front of a nearby blacksmith shop. After Constable Harry R. Coles had called the highway patrol and was returning to the blacksmith shop he heard a shot.

He found Hall on the ground, part of his right side torn away. Seaton then held the constable and the remaining members of the Hall party at gunpoint until relieved of the weapon by a deputy, Mel West, of Strasburg.

The soldier claimed he was holding the party until police could arrive, and that Hall had advanced upon him.

Fighting Gets More Intense In North China

Losses Heavy in Strife With the Communists

By Spencer Moosa

CHUNGKING, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Reports of heavy fighting between Chinese Communist and the central government troops in North China pictured today a nation locked in civil war, real although not officially declared.

Warfare is growing in intensity in Shantung, Shansi and Suiyuan provinces, said dispatches received in Chungking.

The Chinese press attributed to General Hsi-Shan, governor of Shansi, now visiting Chungking, a statement that government forces suffered 15,000 casualties and the Communist losses "also were very heavy" in fighting centering around Changchui, strategic town in southeastern Shansi which Yen conceded the Reds captured.

Independent reports said that wherever the Communists were retreating along railways they were destroying and blowing up bridges.

This explained the slow movement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops which are proceeding along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railroads to replace the United States marines in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Report Supplies by Russians

Insistent reports that the Russians were supplying the Communists with captured Japanese war material continued to circulate in Chungking, but no one in authority would allow himself to be quoted.

Other reports told of bitter fighting in 11 provinces, mostly in North China but including central parts of the nation and Kwangtung province, on the southeast coast.

The new China Daily News, the Communist publication, estimated 800,000 central government troops were battling the Reds. Neutral observers said they believed this figure was exaggerated, but all quarters conceded the fighting was serious.

"We cannot consider the situation represents a civil war until Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek openly proclaims it to be so and calls the Communists rebels," said an official Communist spokesman.

Sources favoring Chiang's government said that they believed the only way to unify the nation was to eliminate the Communists, which they said they thought Chiang could do with an all-out, well executed campaign in from three to six months.

These sources said they believed (Please Turn To Page 4 Col. 4)

Myriad Problems
As Russian
And American
Relations Ease

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Myriad international problems held a promise today of early and critical tests for President Truman's newly-proclaimed 12-point foreign policy.

One touchy point may disappear. This concerns Russia's demand for an Allied control council for Japan. The issue may be compromised in the near future.

The brightest spot diplomatic authorities see in the international situation is evidence of improving Russian-American relations. The optimism stems from the friendly reception accorded U. S. Ambassador Harriman when he delivered a personal message from Mr. Truman to Generalissimo Stalin last week.

The nature of the message and of Stalin's reply have not been disclosed. There was some belief in Washington that negotiations over policy details, particularly respecting European peace treaties and the Japanese control council, are still in progress.

Try for Cooperation
However, the main purpose of the interchange was clearly to try to strengthen the basis for present and future cooperation among the great powers in trying to organize a secure world peace.

Here are the main international problems which President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes must reckon with in the weeks immediately ahead and in the light of Mr. Truman's foreign policy declarations in New York Saturday.

Japan
Representatives of the main victor nations in the Pacific war will meet tomorrow at the state department to organize a "Far Eastern advisory commission" primarily to consult on future Japanese control policies. Russia is the only one of 10 nations initially scheduled to participate which has not yet designated a delegate but officials are hopeful she will attend.

Russia's delay has been attributed to her insistence that before the commission meets the Allies should agree to a control council for Japan. A compromise was considered possible along the lines of an Allied agreement to set up an administrative council later on. Presumably this would have to be acceptable to General Douglas MacArthur. It is understood he has been kept informed on all negotiations with Moscow about this.

The Balkans

One of President Truman's dozen foreign policy principles is that this government will not recognize any other government imposed by outside force on a nation. His statement was generally interpreted here as applying to the Balkans. The United States has been critical of Russia's political policies particularly in Romania and Bulgaria.

Palestine

This is a problem between Britain and the U. S. over admittance of Jewish refugees from Europe to Palestine. But it involves the broad question of maintaining peace in the Middle East.

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Chesler Bowles, the OPA chief, let quite a big cat out of the bag in his testimony before the senate banking and currency committee the other day. He revealed that the army and navy plan to spend $41,000,000,000 the first 12 months after V-J day. This was part of Bowles' testimony on how inflationary pressures were building up in the nation.

Alert Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire quickly caught this.

"Where did you get those figures?" he asked Bowles.

The OPA director replied that he had received them from the army.

Tobey shook his head. "What in the world do they want to spend it for?" he asked.

Bowles shrugged his shoulders and said he didn't know.

This $41,000,000,000 in 12 months of peace compares with a total military expenditure of only $33,000,000,000 during the whole World War I.

U. S. Congressmen in Moscow

When the house foreign relations sub-committee was in Moscow, members spent almost two hours in a frank, give-and-take conference with Andrei Vyshinsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, known to U. S. diplomats as the 'Harry Hopkins of Russia.'

Hottest topic discussed was freedom of the press. Vyshinsky was

The fire companies were called out Sunday night, making a run to the new Missouri Pacific shops where they found a number of employees burning up old box cars that had been condemned for future use. On the way back they discovered a fire in a residence which they extinguished.

quite outspoken on this subject, demanding to know why the Soviet union didn't receive "friendly" treatment by American newspapers.

"What do you mean?" chorused Representatives Mundt of South Dakota, Bolton of Ohio, Wright of Connecticut and Gordon of Illinois. The four congressmen insisted that the great majority of U. S. newspapers were fair to the Soviet regime.

Vyshinsky smilingly, but vigorously, shot back: "We would like to get a better press in the United States. Too many of your newspapers picture us in an unsavory light, making it appear at times that we are immoral and even vulgar. We resent that."

The four house members pointed out that one of the prices a country must pay for a genuinely free press is the right of every editor to attack any government or individual with whom he disagrees.

"You've got to take the bitter with the sweet in a free press," interjected Representative Mundt. "We're used to it in the United States and take newspaper attacks for granted. Why, members of our own congress are blasted far more often, and more vigorously, than the Soviet Union."

Vyshinsky grinningly dropped the subject, but indicated that he wasn't convinced.

ESME OF PARIS

APARTMENT IN PARIS

XIX
AFTER stopping in Paris, I crossed again to Buenos Aires. The season with Michailovitch was successful, but not as exciting as the one before in which I had founded my own company. After eight months I began to feel a little disgusted with the type of show I was doing—it had been "pot-boiling," and I knew it and wanted to work at something for my own satisfaction. So I headed back to Paris.

I had long dreamed of taking an apartment with mother, and had even written to her from South America about it—explaining how I proposed to rent and keep it up, providing she would live there with me and share expenses. She had agreed to everything I had suggested, and I now set out to look for one.

After searching the entire city in the company of an impressive personage from "Agence d'Immeubles," with a silky black beard, a briefcase, and an umbrella, at last I found what I wanted on the Avenue de Bois du Boulogne, now called the Avenue de Marechal Poch, a stone's throw from the Bois and the Port Dauphin. It was a large apartment opening on its own tiny garden with a gate leading into the street behind, and next to a garage. There was a delightful room for mother and her piano, with another enormous salon for my own work. The whole place was ideal.

Mother wrote from Vienna that the place sounded wonderful in every respect, and she would be looking forward to living there. I immediately signed the lease and started looking for furniture. Then, without warning, came a letter from my brother that worried me very much.

He begged me to come at once to Austria, for he had received some disturbing news about mother's health from the doctor. In spite of this, she insisted on running about with some operatic people who were trying to promote a company of Swedish operas.

I LEFT for Salzburg at once and found mother at the Schweitzerhof Hotel, surrounded by a group of actors, singers, and musical phenomena.

When I spoke to her about her health, contrary to other occasions when she had complained so bitterly about it, she would not discuss it or give me any idea of what the doctor had told her. I saw clearly that she suspected me of having come to Salzburg for the express purpose of preventing her from getting involved with any more engagements that might require traveling. I told her plainly that I expected her to take life quietly and live in the apartment I had worked so hard to acquire, where she could have proper rest and comfort and sing in concert or at the Ope. Comique—work that I felt would not harm her health. But it was not until the fourth of June that I finally managed to get her started for Paris.

In the meantime, I had received a letter from my beautiful little cousin, Pepita. She was in Paris and broke, having got herself into a series of difficulties. She had been working at the Coliseum in London with the Digby company but did not tell me how she came to be without a job. When we arrived in Paris, there she was—installed at our hotel!

I took Pepita with me to the half-empty apartment and made her understand that for once in her lazy young life she was going to earn her board bill and help me get the place finished so that mother could move in at the end of the week. This we did successfully, and the apartment looked lovely. I filled every corner with mother's favorite flowers—lilies of the valley and bowls of big pink roses. Then I went flying to the hotel to fetch her.

Everything was packed when I got there, and Marie was just closing her trunks—but not to come to the Avenue du Bois! Mother was leaving for London on the 2 o'clock plane from Le Bourget, to commence rehearsals with the Swedish Opera. Before leaving Salzburg she had signed a contract with them to tour the United States.

I WALKED slowly back to the Avenue du Bois, trying to formulate plans. There was no clause in the lease I had signed permitting me to sublet, and anyway it was not completely furnished as yet, so that possibility was out of the question.

I would have to get back to work as soon as possible.

I had a letter from the dancer Marcel Idzikowski, recommending that I get in touch with the agents Howell and Baud on the Rue de la Paix. They were reputed to be the best agents in Paris at the moment, taking only acts that they were satisfied could keep working steadily and that were up to their standards. I found them to be an interesting study in contrasts. Howell was a little English cockney who looked like a jockey, and Monsieur Georges Baud was a replica of the miniatures of the Cardinal de Rohan in the Hotel de Sevres. I have never seen such dignity and old-world courtesy: I very nearly expected him to whip out a lace handkerchief and take a pinch of snuff as we talked. Almost apologetically he asked for an audition, and after seeing me work, offered to procure my engagements if I would build some dances in the acrobatic style so much sought after at the moment.

Two days later he called me to his office to sign a contract with the big German Circus Busche playing a three-month route through Budapest, Vienna, Munich, Zurich, Frankfurt, Breslau, Hamburg, and Stockholm.

Cancer Education Aiding Treatment

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

One out of every three persons has a good knowledge of cancer today, and young people know more about the disease than older people, according to Evelyn A. Potter in the Bulletin of the American Cancer Society, Inc.

Public education in cancer has been carried on for more than 30 years by the American Cancer Society and its predecessors. Purpose is to teach lay persons the cause, nature, signs and symptoms of the disease, so that those who develop accessible cancer can go to a physician in the early stages and be cured.

Surveys made by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health indicate half of those interviewed know accessible cancer can be cured if detected in time, but it was surprising to know that nearly half the people did not know this.

Not a Contagious Disease

Cancer is not contagious. No one has ever contracted cancer from anyone else, as cancer is a growth which develops in our own bodies. Two-thirds of those interviewed knew this, but the other one-third still constitute a source of difficulty for cancer patients and their relatives. In one instance property could not be sold because the house had been occupied by an individual with cancer. Cancer patients also report lack of nursing care because of the fear of contagion on the part of those near them.

Pain is not a symptom of beginning cancer, but as cancer advances it becomes painful through invasion of the tissues. Patients with accessible cancer who wait for pain to develop before reporting to their physician, greatly decrease their chance of cure.

Chronic irritation is a common cause of cancer. Nearly three-fourths of the group interviewed knew this.

Cancer Education Aiding Treatment

One out of every three persons has a good knowledge of cancer today, and young people know more about the disease than older people, according to Evelyn A. Potter in the Bulletin of the American Cancer Society, Inc.

Public education in cancer has been carried on for more than 30 years by the American Cancer Society and its predecessors. Investigations On Over Sugar

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A two-way investigation of the sugar shortage took shape in congress today.

One house group started a probe into production problems of the sugar industry. Another made plans for a study of the supply situation.

Chairman Granger (D-Utah) of a house agriculture subcommittee announced the opening of hearings on the production phase.

He said in a letter to committee members that an extensive inquiry would be made to determine ways to boost the annual output in this country for the next year.

The group particularly hopes that it can work out some way to increase beet sugar yield in the western states.

Cane sugar growth is believed already to be in good shape, but potential beet field yields are regarded as an untapped source of more sweetness.

Tolerance is Bishop's Urge

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A crowd of more than 18,000 persons jammed Kiel auditorium last night for a mass observance of the 428th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation. About 5,000 others were turned away.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, delivered the principal address, calling for unity and tolerance among the forces of Christianity. He termed "sinful" the "tension" which he said is developing between Roman Catholics and Protestants in the United States.

"Religious leaders of all faiths should do all in their power to eliminate the causes that contribute to the tension," he asserted. "Intolerance has no place in a nation whose sons have died to free mankind from intolerant totalitarianism."

Good News from General Electric

DESPITE the sudden stopping of war work, employment at General Electric has declined less than 10 per cent overall. Rehiring is already under way, and it is expected that more people will be employed within six to eight months than were employed during the biggest prewar years.

What G-E people are making is shown, in part, by the list below. This list of things you and your family have wanted for many months shows the progress General Electric has made in swinging back to its regular job of making "More Goods for More People at Less Cost." General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

Alarm Clocks. In January, 1944, WPB okayed making some electric alarm clocks. Within seven weeks, G. E. was in production.

Turbines. Full schedule peacetime production of steam turbines, source of two-thirds of the nation's electric power and the driving power for most of our fighting and merchant fleets, is expected to be reached by December.

Irons. In June, 1944, came authorization to make electric irons. In three months, G.E. was shipping irons. Today's rate is higher than 1941.

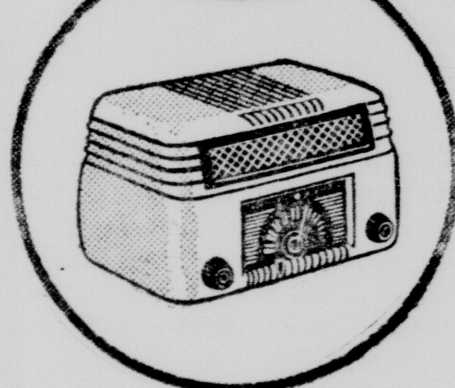

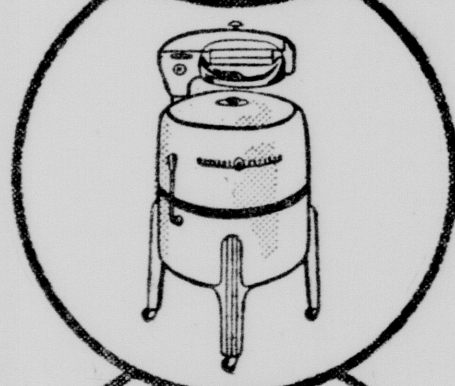

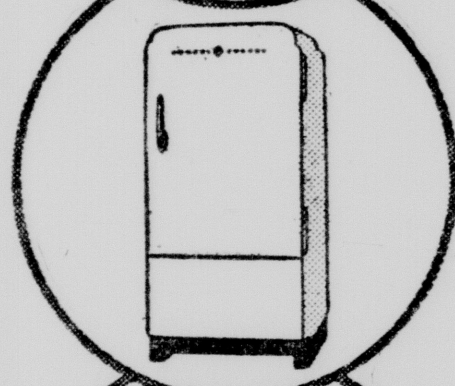

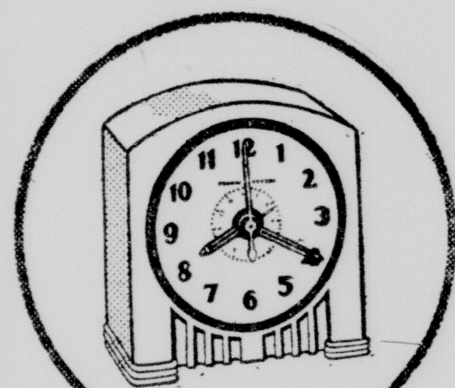

Motors. Ten million were built for war—many of special types and sizes. Now G-E lines are being quickly converted to production of standard types for washing machines, refrigerators, etc.

Refrigerators. After getting green light from WPB in June, 1945, G.E. was in production in eight weeks.

Transformers. Upwards of 70 small transformers were required for a single B-29 Superfortress. Now G-E facilities are turning them out again to help make electricity more useful to you.

Washers. Ten weeks from WPB go-ahead, G-E washer line started rolling in Bridgeport on August 24, 1945. Already they're being turned out at 47 per cent of G.E.'s prewar rate.

Street Lights and Flood Lights. Facilities that turned out mobile anti-aircraft searchlights for the Army, and thousands of signaling searchlights for the Navy, are now producing flood lights for sports and industry, and street lights to reduce the nation's night traffic toll.

Radios. G-E radios will be back on the market for Christmas. Table models will be in dealers' stores in November. By Christmas, 12 models should be in stores, including AC-DC battery portables, radio phonograph consoles. Television and FM will go into production after the first of the year.

Home Construction Materials. Wire, cable, fluorescent lamp holders, etc., formerly for Army and Navy use, are now in production for your new home.

Ranges. Manufacture began on the first G-E electric ranges September 9, 1945. Three days later the first shipment was made.

Plastics Production. The plastics facilities of General Electric, largest manufacturer of finished plastic products in the country, have been turned to molding camera, clock and refrigerator parts, toaster and coffee-maker handles, castor wheels and wiring devices, radio cabinets, fluorescent bases, cosmetic jars and covers, industrial and decorative laminated materials, lighting reflectors and shades.

Water Coolers. Production at G.E. will equal prewar rate in November.

Automatic Heating. G.E. in January will have oil-fired boilers, conversion oil burners, gas-fired boilers, gas-fired warm air conditioners, all coming off the lines where radar, gunfire and aviation equipment was produced.

Farm Freezers. Will be ready in 1947.

Air Conditioners. One model of room air conditioner will be ready in limited numbers for your next summer's needs. First "store cooler" was shipped the day after V-J Day. More daily.

Radar. The G-E Electronic Navigator, to make ship navigation safer in fog and dark, and to speed shipping schedules, has been tested by many months of actual operation and will soon be available.

Exposure Meters. The new G-E exposure meter for amateur and professional photographers is in production. Present rate is several thousand a week.

Lamps. During the war, the Lamp Department did the double task of supplying both military and civilian needs. Now available once more, but in limited quantities, are such war-discontinued types as: 50- and 75-watt inside frost lamps, 50-100-150-watt medium base lamps, flame-shaped lamps, round decorative lamps, fluorescent lamps, lumiline lamps. Christmas tree lights are in production but will be quite limited this holiday season.

Helped Battle on To Victory

Mrs. Charles Bryant of Spring Fork recently received a G. I. newspaper, "Serving the Doughboys in Combat," from her husband, Sgt. Bryant, stationed in the Philippines, containing a story of the 63rd Infantry division in the Pacific war theater, of which he is a member.

The story, in part, is as follows: "The 63rd Infantry division has, in 27 months in the Pacific, battled its way to victory through the road has been long and bitter. Tears and blood were shed—lives were lost. But the men of this division fought on and on through the jungles and heat of the South Pacific.

"The division has met with serious action, such as the battles in New Guinea and the drive across the northern Manila plains. The men dug out, pillbox by pillbox, with flame throwers, bazookas and grenades over 1,800 Japs pledged to a suicide stand and battled its way through 7,000 yards of steep hills and wooded ravines under constant artillery mortars and machine-gun fire to seize the hills.

"These battle-weary doughboys have fought their way through Luzon and the Bataan peninsula, in one action killing 11,000 Japs, and fired more than 150,000 projectiles in support of our infantry."

Sgt. Bryant has served two years and four months overseas with Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army and is expected to arrive in the United States sometime in November.

Mrs. Bryant is the former Mary Agnes Eichholz.

Tax Slashing Bill Up for Passage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—The $3,920,000,000 first peacetime tax-cutting bill was headed for final passage today, amid new demands for a slash in federal expenditures and for a balanced budget.

The size of the tax reduction—almost $1,000,000,000 above the limit set by the administration—caused some members of the House budget-balancing bloc to balk, but they acknowledged the bill will pass despite their opposition.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee led the opposition, urging that tax paining now would contribute to inflation and deficit government spending. He told reporters it is "absurd" to cut taxes while asking the nation to subscribe to $11,000,000,000 in Victory Bonds. He called for economy in federal expenditures, to bring them in line with revenues—and a balanced budget.

On the other hand, Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, senior Republican and the tax-initiating House Ways and Means committee, hailed the tax reduction as a boon to business enterprise. Future reductions, he said, "will depend on full production and elimination of wasteful spending by the administration."

Lawrence Keele To Trial Tuesday

The trial of Lawrence Keele, charged with robbery in the first degree, in connection with the holdup and shooting of Forrest P. Norris, at his hamburger stand, Engineer avenue and Third street, last March, will start Tuesday morning. This is the second trial for Keele in the Pettis county circuit court, being granted a new trial following the first in the last term of criminal court last June.

Keele, it is alleged was with Robert Dooley, at the time of the holdup and hauled him away from the hamburger stand after he had been shot by Mr. Norris, following the shooting of Mr. Norris. Keele denies that he knew of any pre-arranged plan to hold up the place, and also any reason as to why Dooley was shot.

Dooley last June pleaded guilty to the charge of first degree robbery and was sentenced to Alcoa Farms for ten years. He escaped the institution several weeks ago and is still at large.

Chiang would start a smashing campaign against the Communists were he not apprehensive over the reaction from other nations, particularly the United States, and the possibility that Russia might support the Reds.

Several Chungking sources said they believed that there was no real chance of putting the current deadlocked unity discussions between the Communists and Chiang's government on the road to peaceful settlement.

A Communist spokesman in Chungking clearly indicated that the Reds would continue to fight rather than allow the central government forces any free passage along communication lines to north China.

Dr. Mill was a resident of Sedalia several years ago being engaged in religious work.

Dr. Mill, a native of Australia, faced a $10,000 deficit in the society's general fund when he began his work, but reports that the fund now has $20,000 in assets. Dr. Mill plans to retire.

Big Six Football Gossip

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The big boys of the Big Six—Missouri's Tigers and the Oklahoma Sooners—maintained their unbeaten and untied records in conference competition the past week end by defeating tail enders in bitterly contested games.

Great punting by Leonard Brown, Missouri's 145-pound quarterback, and a blocked kick paved the way for a 19-0 Tiger win over the last place Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Oklahoma had to storm from behind to handle fifth place Kansas State, 41-18 at Manhattan.

Big Six little bits — Coach Patsy Clark of Nebraska describes his Cornhuskers as the "first freshman team I ever coached." He has only two lettermen, Fred Lorenz and Ed Gradoville.

Nineteen 17-year-olds dominate the squad. "They are just kids," Patsy says, "but I love them. Even if they haven't won a ball game." Speaking of their youth, Clark said, "While we were in the railroad station waiting to catch a train to Columbia I caught five of them playing with yo-yos." ... Missouri Coach Chauncey Simpson is apparently nursing back Bill Dellastatus for the Oklahoma game. ... Crippled all season, Dellastatus spent most of the afternoon against Nebraska entering and leaving the game. ... Lt. (jg) Eugene "Red" Little, Big Six quarter mile champion at Nebraska in 1940 and '41 and Sugar bowl champ in '41 and '42, is on his way out of the navy and is looking for a coaching job.

New Referee for Tuesday Matches

Jimmy Parker from Memphis, Tenn., is taking over the generalship of the wrestling matches at the State Guard armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue, Tuesday night, it was announced today. The American Legion, Pettis Co. Post No. 16, sponsor of the matches received word from Promoter Simon Kalis today to the effect a new referee would be used.

Atkinson, two weeks ago received injuries to his ribs, and although he refereed last week, he was in no condition to "back" the heavyweights as a referee should. It was then decided a new referee must be obtained for this week and Parker agreed to come to Sedalia to take over.

The main event of the card this week is between Vic Holbrook, the "good looking chap" from Hollywood, California, and "Big Ben" Morgan, who supports a great crop of chin whiskers. Morgan tips the scales at 310 pounds while Holbrook is sixty pounds under this.

In the semi-windup match Ray Graham, Dallas, Texas, the matman with the "handebar mustache" is slated against Ralph Garibaldi of East St. Louis, Ill., who claims the title of Missouri in heavyweight wrestling.

Preliminary or opener is between Ken Fenelon of Dubuque, Iowa, and Don O'Connor, the Irishman from Boston, Mass. This is expected to be one of the best matches on the card.

The entire card is made up of headline wrestlers.

Tom Scott CMSC Athletic Director

WARRENSBURG, Oct. 29.—(Special)—Tom Scott, Mule basketball coach, will resume his coaching duties on November 1 at Central Missouri State college. Scott will also be director of athletics, Pres. G. W. Diemar has announced.

During his four seasons at Warrensburg Scott coached three MIAA championship teams; won one second place and the last season he was here his team was undefeated.

Formerly of Pittsburg, Kas. Scott was discharged from the navy on October 1, with the rank of lieutenant, following more than three years in naval physical training program.

He served at the naval air station in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; San Juan, Porto Rico; Floyd Bennett field of New York and in the naval air primary training command, Chicago and at the naval air station, Glenview, Ill.

A graduate of Pittsburg, Kas., Teachers college and of Iowa State, with additional work at Columbia university, for one year Scott played with the Wichita Henrys, national champions and with the Pittsburg Teachers.

Reconversion Topic Of Farm Home Week

Nationally Known
Leaders Will Be Heard At Forums

"Reconversion and Agriculture" will be topic of Farm and Home Week at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture on November 19 and 20. In large open-air forums, nationally known leaders in both agriculture and industry will discuss reconversion problems with farm people gathered from every part of Missouri. An invitation is extended to everyone who is interested.

Clearly farm people have a stake in prompt and successful reconversion. It means more customers and fewer competitors for farmers. It means customers with better filled pocketbooks and greater wants, and it creates the only situation in which agriculture can be relatively prosperous.

Major Job of Own
Agriculture has a major reconversion job of its own. Since the start of the war, American farmers have increased their per capita food production 29 per cent. On the other hand, food consumption has increased only 10 per cent, and even without our diversion to lend-lease our domestic consumption probably would not be increased more than 15 per cent.

Moreover our production pattern has changed greatly because of wartime demands which may not continue during the postwar era. The very strong demand and high price for fats and oils, especially soybeans and livestock products like lard, illustrate this point. Disposing of the quantity produced in excess of post-war consumption, either by increasing consumption or decreasing production, is a major reconversion problem.

This Week on the Farm Front

Balanced Farming Helps In Holding Soil--

Top: Many Missouri corn fields present this appearance after the frequent and heavy rains which struck over the state. Soils scientists estimate that from 20 to 50 tons of soil per acre may be lost on such a field during one torrential rain.

Bottom: This field on the Clay Campbell farm in Knox county shows little erosion although the terraces are of recent construction. A good water management plan is vital to a balanced farming system on upland farms.

off the bramble patch. You can use poultry netting, being sure that the poultry netting is securely fastened to the ground so as to prevent rabbits from crawling under the barrier. The use of various washes and chemical applied to young fruit trees to prevent rabbit injury has not proved satisfactory generally.

Fruit trees that have reached the size of 4 to 6 inches in diameter are not normally injured during the winter months, except during severe winters when the snow may remain on the ground for several weeks and the rabbits become desperately hungry. Under such conditions even these larger trees should be provided with some protection.

Two Practices To Prevent Molt

Two practices frequently are used by successful poultrymen to and in keeping early-hatched pullets from going into fall molt. They are the feeding of moist fattening mash and the use of lights, states E. B. Winner, of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Body weight must be maintained for continued high egg production. If poultry raisers observe any loss in weight, they'll be wise to use a noon feeding of moist fattening mash as a supplement to the regular mash and grain feeds. Such a mash is frequently made up of 70 pounds of yellow corn meal, 20 pounds of shorts, and 5 pounds of meat scraps. If skim milk is available on the farm, and used in moistening the mash, the meat scraps can be left out of the mash.

The use of lights is another help in preventing early hatched pullets from molting during the fall and winter. Morning or evening lights can be used to furnish the birds with a 13 to 14-hour day. All-night lights work equally well.

4-H Club Girl Tells What Members Learn In Work

Editor's Note: Too often we think of the accomplishments of 4-H club members as what they do with their projects. There are many other things, that 4-H club members do and accomplish through their years of 4-H club work. Stella Sperber, a member of the Walnut Grove club, tells in the following story what 4-H club members learn from 4-H club work.

"4-H club work develops an attitude toward better methods and use of better equipment on our farms, and in our homes. It develops a desire to use the practical and profitable improvements for a more enjoyable farm life.

"4-H club work helps us to gain a broad understanding, and take part in the major phases of homemaking.

Knowledge of Homemaking
"We girls acquire the knowledge of homemaking, and we learn to participate in homemaking activities that make a happy family. It helps us to develop those housekeeping skills and managerial abilities that make for a comfortable and satisfactory home. It also teaches us to buy wisely and use intelligently farm and home resources to the end that our families' income may be well utilized and family goals attained. It helps to maintain physical and mental health. It teaches us the social satisfactions involved in homemaking.

Light bulbs of the 15-25 watt size are usually provided for all-night lights, or morning and evening lights, two 40-watt bulbs are used to a 20 by 20 foot house.

Regularity is of extreme importance, and the method selected should be consistently followed from now till spring.

Plenty of feeder space, constant supplies of feed, and adequate amounts of fresh water that is not too cold, are also essential to success.

Water Management System For Upland Farms Stressed

Torrential rains throughout most of the state during the spring and early summer have emphasized the necessity of planning a complete system of water management for every upland farm. Where balanced farming systems are being developed, water management is one of the first problems tackled.

"Erosion tears down our soil and fertility faster than we can build it up unless terracing and contouring are practiced" is an observation frequently made by balanced farming cooperators, and others, who have seen the effect of terracing in preventing erosion on rolling fields.

A recent visit to Knox county showed Albert Hagan of the Missouri College of Agriculture many interesting contrasts. While driving through the county he saw numerous fields that had lost thousands of pounds of valuable top soil which can never be restored. However, a visit to the Clay Campbell farm presented a very different picture. Mr. Campbell in cooperation with County Agent Paul Bebermeyer, developed plans for a complete balanced farming system a little over a year ago. Of course, they included complete plans for water management.

Plans On Terrace Outlets

The water management system included complete plans for terrace outlets on field boundaries, structure where needed at the end of outlets, farm ponds, and terracing on all of the crop land. Within the past year, Mr. Campbell has completed four terracing outlets which will handle run-off terrace water from most of his crop land. Two of these outlets which were seeded in the fall of 1944 are ready to carry water from his new terraces.

In addition, 5 miles of terraces constructed according to recommendations of the College of Agriculture have been completed on the farm. These terraces protect 97 acres of his land from erosion. In spite of record breaking rains, very little erosion was evident on Mr. Campbell's terraced fields, which were planted to corn and plowed on the contour.

The experience of Mr. Campbell has been duplicated on the farms of many balanced farming cooperators throughout the state. Seven farm families in the Brinktown community of Maries county have completed balanced farming plans and already have constructed from one to three miles of terraces on every farm. Joseph B. Lischwe, who has constructed approximately three miles of terraces on his farm, expressed an opinion on the value of terracing and contour farming, to which a growing number of farmers throughout the state will agree.

He said, "Terracing and contouring are the finest things out." We must corral water and stop washing before we can build up the land. With the land terraced, we can put on lime, fertilizer, manure and other soil treatments, and keep it there. We can't possibly keep land as good as it is without terracing."

Ventilators In Cribs For Keeping of Corn

Crib ventilators for drying soft corn. Type A is set below the crib end wall. B extends from the floor to the top of the crib.

New corn with a moisture content as great as 20 per cent can be cribbed with a good chance of keeping only if it is free from shelled corn, trash and husks and if ventilators are used in the crib. The crib itself should not be wider than 8 feet for all parts of Missouri except the northwestern part, where 9-foot cribs may be satisfactory.

Much greater circulation of air through the cribbed corn can be insured by the installation of ventilators says Ralph Ricketts of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Such ventilators are placed midway between the two sidewalls of the crib and extend through the entire length of the crib.

One type of ventilator is made by setting up a very narrow A-shaped frame of 2-by-4s covered on both sides with 1-by-4s spaced 1 inch apart. Such a ventilator is often made in sections for easier handling. This type has a spread of about 20 inches at the bottom and four inches at the top.

Another type is made by setting both sides straight up and down with a uniform spread of 14 inches between the sides at both top and bottom.

Both types may be lightened somewhat by using snow fencing in place of the 1-by-4 slats.

However we not only work in our club but have many good times together."

Leaves Valuable On Home Gardens

Much good plant food and organic matter is going up in smoke now, says J. U. Morris, County Extension Agent, because many leaves are being burned. For the home garden these leaves are valuable. This is one way of adding organic matter to the soil, which is badly needed on most areas. By adding organic matter the soil becomes spongier, which makes it more friable, easier to work, and holds moisture longer during the summer months.

It's not a good policy to spade under raw leaves on a garden but this year's leaf crop should be put in a heap, composted and left to decay, and spade under next fall. In order to hasten decomposition of leaves, 3½ pounds of ammonium sulphate, 3 pounds of finely ground limestone, and 1 pound of super phosphate fertilizer should be mixed with each 100 pounds of leaves. If the ammonium phosphate is not available then a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, such as 4-12-4 or similar analysis plus some flour lime may be used. The adding of the fertilizer and the lime not only hastens the decay of the leaves but helps balance the plant food that is either spaded or plowed under in the garden. Because of the importance of organic matter and its value in producing high quality tender, crisp vegetables, we could well adopt the slogan, Compost leaves—don't burn them.

"4-H club work helps us to gain experience in public speaking and helps to develop team work and sportsmanship through demonstrations.

"We learn many useful and helpful things in 4-H club work.

HOW NEW CORN SHELLER CUTS SHELLING COST

Patented Open
KERNOLIZER Works
3 Ways to Speed
Corn Shelling

- Yes, folks, this patented open KERNOLIZER shells corn (1) on the outside, (2) on the inside, and (3) at the same time acts as an auger to push cobs and husks toward the discharge. The KERNOLIZER, the outstanding feature of the new Harvey Red Hed Corn Sheller, can be obtained only in Corn Shellers made by Harvey. The speed with which it shells husked or machine-picked corn sure is a caution. And here's something else! It does a better job of "snapped" corn shelling, too! Well... all I ask is before you buy any corn sheller, come in and see the Harvey Red Hed with the patented open KERNOLIZER.

Years of Clinic experience covering thousands of cases definitely prove that when piles are corrected many other associated troubles disappear. There are scientific reasons for this which every pile sufferer should know. The Dr. O. A. Johnson Clinic established over 30 years has an outstanding record in the non-surgical treatment of Piles. By their mild, inexpensive office treatments, uncomplicated piles are corrected in an average time of less than 2 weeks.

Enlistment
For Army and Re-Enlistment

The U. S. Army recruiting office in the post office building in Sedalia submits the following information regarding enlistment in the regular army and enlistments in the enlisted reserve corps. The new army enlistment circulars include a wide scope of opportunities for both initial enlistees and men discharged from the Army under the point system.

For the purpose of clarification information is given in the following four categories:

(1) Enlistments in the regular army, (2) initial enlistments in the regular army of men now serving in the Army of the United States or discharged from the Army of the United States under the point system, (3) enlistments of discharged army men into the enlisted reserve corps, and (4) enlistments of men whose last period of active service in the army of the United States was in the status of a commissioned officer, warrant officer, or flight officer.

Optional Periods

1. Men enlisting in the regular army who have had no prior service with the components of the army may enlist at their option for periods of 18 months, 2 years, or 3 years. If they choose to enlist for 3 years they are entitled to choose their branch of service and overseas theater. Individuals who enlist for less than 3 years will be enlisted in the regular army "unassigned." Applicants must be at least 17 and not over 34 years of age. A birth certificate is required from each applicant and parents' consent for all applicants who have not reached their 18th birthday. Applicants will be given a physical examination at the induction center and if found physically unqualified will be sent home at government expense.

2. Every enlisted man who is serving honorably and faithfully in the Army of the United States will be afforded the opportunity of applying for discharge from his enlisted status for the purpose of enlisting in the regular army. The grade at time of discharge will be the permanent grade in the regular army upon enlistment.

The opportunity for these enlistments will be arranged through the organization to which the men are attached.

Enlistments for men in this category are 1 year, 18 months, 2 years, and 3 years.

Reenlistment Allowances

Reenlistment allowances will be paid men who reenlist within a period of 3 months from date of discharge. The rate of allowance is $50.00 for each full year of honorable service just completed in the 1st three grades, or at the rate of $25.00 for each year if discharged below grade three.

Reenlistment furloughs for men in this category are for periods from 30 to 90 days, depending on length of previous active duty. Reenlistment furloughs are authorized only for men who are discharged for the purposes of immediately reenlisting, or having been honorably discharged, effect enlistment within 20 days after discharge, or having been honorably discharged on or after 12 May 1945 effect reenlistment not later than 21 November 1945.

Men in this category may be assigned to their present organization, or, at their option, any arm or service of their choice, and any overseas theater.

Can Hold Ratings

3. Enlisted men honorably discharged from the army may enlist in the Enlisted Reserve Corps in the rating or grade held at time of discharge. A physical examination is required and may be effected through any U. S. army recruiting station. Enlistment may be made in any arm or service in which they have served. Enlistment may be made at the time of discharge, or within 90 days after 2 October 1945.

4. Men whose last period of active duty was in the status of a commissioned officer, warrant officer, or flight officer, will be enlisted in the first grade (master or first sergeant), provided such enlistment is effected within 20 days of the date of release from active duty.

The 20-year retirement policy recently adopted by the army withstands for all men enlisting in the Regular Army.

'Rattlesnakes' First To Hit Clark Field

When doughboys of the 40th Infantry Division landed on Luzon on D-Day, they were already experienced Jap-killers. Early in 1944, they had been in action on New Britain in the Bismarck Archipelago. From Talasea, on New Britain's north coast, the Sunburst Division had made an epic drive of 25 miles eastward to capture Cape Moskins' airdrome and seal the trap in which thousands of Japs in the Rabaul area were surrounded.

The 40th, which is also known as the "Rattlesnake" Division, struck with the speed of that reptile when it landed on Luzon.

Eleven days after the invasion, elements had entered Tarlac, key highway-railroad junction. Smashing onward, the doughs of the 40th were the first Yanks to reach Clark Field, target of the first enemy bombing attack in the Philippines after Pearl Harbor. The Sunburst men went on to capture Fort Stotsenburg and Camp O'Donnell, where hundreds of prisoners of Bataan and Corregidor had died.

In early March, elements of the 40th landed on Panay Island, in the Visayas, completely surprising the enemy. On the third day of fighting, the doughboys took Iloilo, second most important city in the Philippines. Within 10 days, all of Panay had been liberated, and capture airstrips were already in use.

Later in the same month, the division jumped across Gumaras Strait for an invasion of Negros. Twenty-seven hours after H-Hour, the capital of Negros was in American hands; by June 1, the 40th's bag of killed and captured Japs numbered 5,000.

The regular meeting of the Neapolis lodge No. 153, I. O. O. F. will not be held Tuesday night. Members are invited to attend the lodge meeting and supper at the Green Ridge lodge Tuesday, October 30.

PRODUCE MORE AND HAVE MORE

A PROPOSAL TO THE NATION

---to its lawmakers, its economists, its farmers, its industrial workers and its business men.

Every thinking American must realize that this country now faces a situation without parallel either during the war or before it.

Before the war we were busy at production of all the things required by a peacetime economy. We maintained a high standard of living, supported the government with our taxes, exported to foreign countries and enjoyed imports from them.

Then came the war. Production was stepped up to unprecedented levels and devoted almost entirely to military needs. Production of civilian goods was reduced to the barest necessities.

Now the war is over. We turn again to supplying civilian needs. But today these needs, unfilled for four long years, are at the highest peak of all time. Our government's tax requirements are no longer the staggering needs of war, but they are still the enormous needs of war's aftermath—many times greater than before the war. There is also immediate, urgent need for all kinds of goods to aid the recovery and rehabilitation of a war-torn world.

The simple fact is we have a big job ahead of us.

We can't get it done on the prewar basis of work.

We must produce far more now than ever before!

Recognizing these problems, we have made the following proposal:

October 27, 1945

International Union, UAW-CIO
411 West Milwaukee Avenue.
Detroit 2, Michigan,

Gentlemen:

General Motors proposes that the UAW-CIO join with it in petitioning the Congress to change the Wages and Hours Act to make the standard work week 45 hours in place of 40 hours during the postwar reconstruction period. This proposal is made recognizing that the country has a big load to carry in cleaning up the aftermath of the war. And that under these conditions we can all have more only if we produce more.

The reason for this proposal to change the law is that the present law putting the penalty of overtime pay of 50% on the extra hours over 40 discourages employers and business generally from planning such extra hours of production, thereby tending to reduce the country to a 40-hour week when the country and the world are demanding more production at lower prices.

With this change in the work week, we propose that all wage rates be increased approximately 6%, so that men working 45 hours at the new straight-time rates will make as much money as they do now for 45 hours of work. This proposal would increase the earnings of those working less than 45 hours and would also increase the extra compensation for any hours worked over 45, since such hours would be paid for at time-and-a-half based on the new rates.

Your first impression of this proposal probably will be that it is a reactionary idea, and not in the interest of labor. It is not reactionary any more than working longer hours in the war emergency was. We are sure that it is in the best interests of all people of our country, and particularly in the best interests of all workmen.

If the 40-hour week was sound prewar and the 48-hour week during the war, the 45-hour week is sound for the immediate period following such a world catastrophe as we have been through all Americans are expecting an even higher standard of living postwar than we had prewar. This can be accomplished at this time only by producing more, as we now must carry the huge additional tax burden and other expenses growing out of the war. The simple fact is that we have a big job ahead of us. We cannot get it done on the prewar basis of work. We must produce far more than we did in the past.

The workmen of other nations will work far more than 45 hours. In many cases they will have only a bare subsistence living while they are doing it, because of the lack of good tools and machinery like those supplied by employers in our country.

This proposal has much to recommend:

1. It avoids a substantial reduction in weekly earnings.
2. It prevents inflation and preserves the purchasing power of war bonds, insurance, social security and other savings.
3. It does not upset the balance between agricultural workers, salaried workers and industrial workers.
4. It will produce more goods and services, and the people of our country will have more.
5. It will create more good jobs and the employment of more people. Just as many men and women will be employed in our plants on a 45-hour week as on a 40-hour week. And it will allow the use of our plants for the extra five hours when they would otherwise be idle.

It will stimulate business activity and create more jobs, and result in the employment of many more people in all related businesses.

If our plants could be scheduled to work on this basis, we would produce nine cars where we would otherwise have produced only eight. It will mean that one man out of nine will have a car who would otherwise go without.

We believe that a 45-hour week is necessary and desirable during the period of postwar reconstruction, for the following reasons:

1. During this period our country will be shipping food, materials and machinery to other countries all over the world to help them rehabilitate themselves and avoid starvation.
2. We still have the extra expense of bringing our fighting men back home and fitting them into civilian work.
3. We still have high taxes, which necessarily are a charge against industry and all producers.
4. To develop and apply technological improvements and to reorganize industry takes time—years, not months.

It is hoped that at the end of this postwar reconstruction period:

1. Our relations with other countries will be on the basis of a two-way street, where we shall get back goods and services for those we supply.
2. The fighting men will be back at peacetime work, and aftermath of the war will be over.
3. Government expense and the number of government employees will be reduced and not be such an excessive burden on all producers.
4. Technological improvements—the better ways of doing all the things that are necessary to deliver products to customers—will have become effective.

We can then have a 40-hour week with more leisure time and more goods and services, and can continue to improve the standard of living of all Americans.

Yours very truly,
C. E. WILSON
President.

It would help America to produce more and have more—

It would provide for higher wages without the certain necessity of higher prices—

It would help to strengthen buying power. Sustain the tax requirements, and maintain the value of war bonds, savings and insurance—

It would be good for the working man, good for the employer, good for the farmer, good for the professional man, good for the housewife—

Good for America!
